

The NEED

The downtown center of Lafayette, Indiana is situated in a food desert where access to healthy, nutritious food can be limited (see Figure 1). Urban gardens can provide a way to increase access while presenting a number of benefits to the surrounding area, including opportunities for community growth, education, and physical activity.

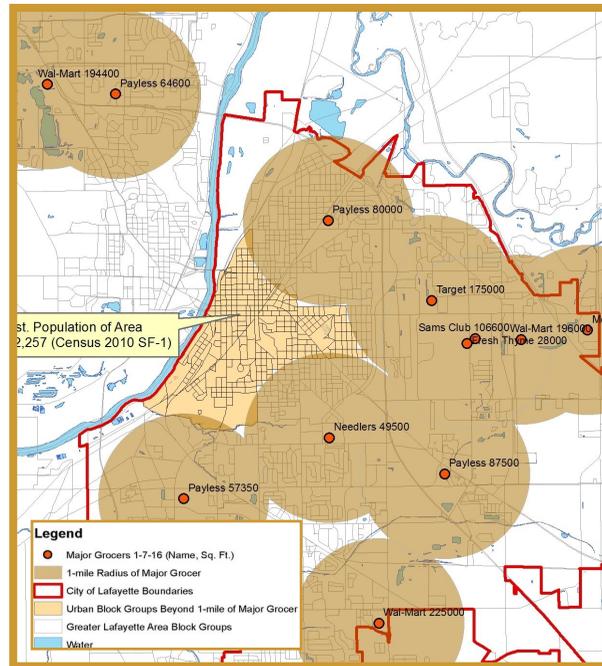

Your PARTICIPATION

At our GrowLocal Sharing Gardens, you can take vegetables home for FREE! Help by watering and weeding. Learn where food comes from, spend time with others, and incorporate healthy food into your meals.

Let's Celebrate Food!

Figure 1: Lafayette Food Desert Map

Our MISSION

To support and encourage urban gardening through action, education, and organization enhancing community and quality of life. We are a network of gardeners in Lafayette, Indiana devoted to building, nourishing, and nurturing community through urban gardens.

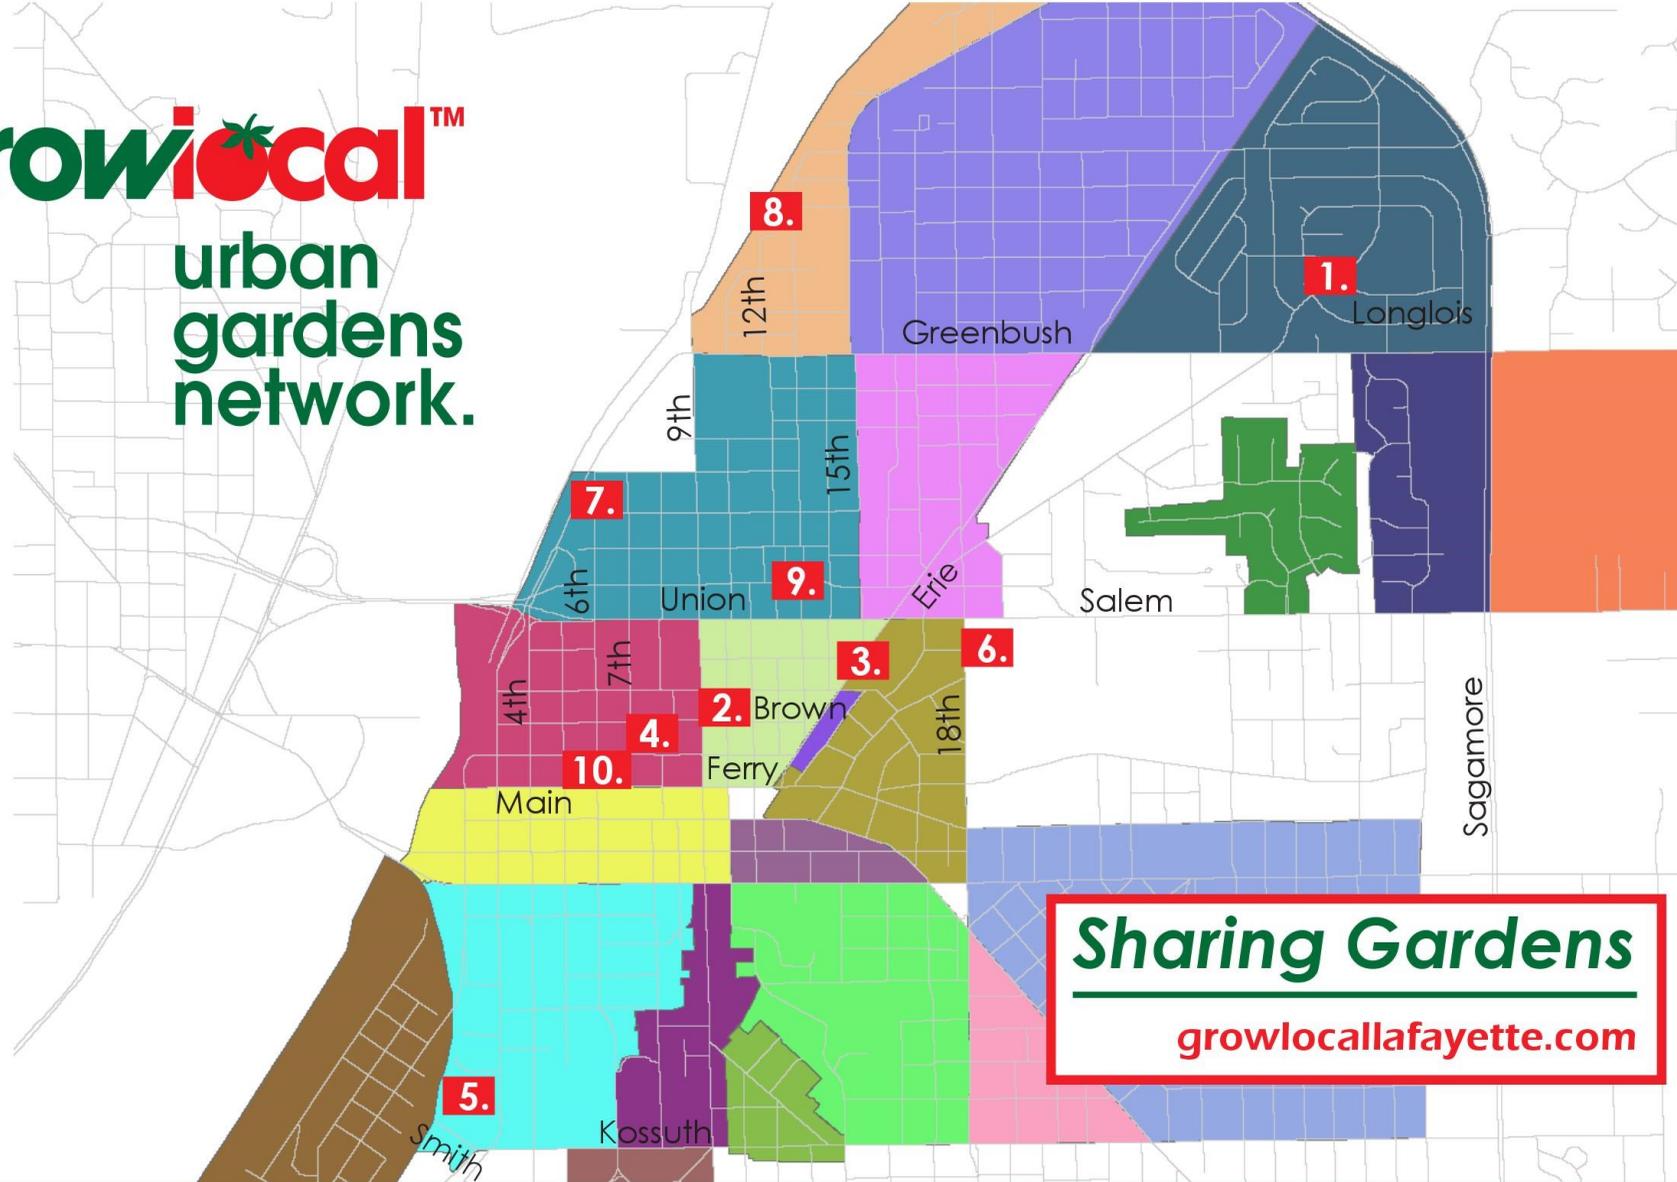

To learn more & get involved:

- www.growlocallafayette.org
- GrowLocal Lafayette Facebook Page
- growlocallafayette@gmail.com

GrowLocal Sharing Gardens

growlocalTM urban gardens network.

Addresses included below:

1. Bethany Sharing Garden
3305 Longlois Drive, Lafayette, IN
2. Brown Street United Methodist Garden
905 Brown Street, Lafayette, IN
3. Erie Street Neighbors Garden
612 Erie Street, Lafayette, IN
4. First Baptist Church Garden
411 N 7th Street, Lafayette, IN
5. Footbridge Sharing Garden
244-264 Smith Street, Lafayette, IN
6. Howarth Garden (LTHC)
615 N 18th Street, Lafayette, IN
7. Lincoln Sharing Garden
1126 N 6th Street, Lafayette, IN
8. N12 Community Garden
1733 N 12th Street, Lafayette, IN
9. Salvation Army Community Garden
1110 Union Street, Lafayette, IN
10. Trinity United Methodist Church Garden
404 N 6th Street, Lafayette, IN

To become a member of the GrowLocal Urban Gardens Network, email:

growlocallafayette@gmail.com